Preface

In March of 1988, Congress enacted the Drug Free Workplace Act, which requires federal contractors and grantees to maintain a drug free workplace. To remain eligible for federal funds, the State of South Dakota, as a grantee, must certify that our workplaces are drug free and meet certain criteria.

These criteria include a requirement to publish and provide to each employee a statement prohibiting illegal drug activity in the workplace and specifying actions that will be taken against an employee who violates the prohibitions. The statement must notify the employee that he must abide by the statement and inform the State of South Dakota if convicted of a criminal drug offense occurring the in the workplace. After learning of an employee conviction, the State of South Dakota must notify the federal government.

In addition, the State must impose a sanction on the convicted employee, such as termination or requiring the employee to complete a drug rehabilitation program. The State must also establish a drug awareness program to educate employees about the hazards of drug abuse and the availability to drug rehabilitation programs.

The purpose of this booklet is to comply with the provisions of the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988. On the following pages you will find the State's policy statement and Governor Rounds' Executive Order re-establishing the State of South Dakota as a Drug Free Workplace, as well as a copy of the Career Service Commission rules which implement the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988.

Executive Order 2003-02

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
EXECUTIVE ORDER 2003-02

WHEREAS, In 1989, Governor George S. Mickelson initially declared that the policy of the state of South Dakota is to provide a drug free workplace environment. In 1995, Governor William J. Janklow renewed that declaration, and with this executive order, I am renewing the declaration; and,

WHEREAS, Illegal drugs in the workplace continue to be a danger to the employees of this state and impair safety and health, promote crime and undermine public confidence in the work done by the state; and,

WHEREAS, In order to continue to be considered a responsible source for federal grant award or contracts, it is imperative that the state maintain a drug free workplace;

NOW, THEREFORE, I GOVERNOR M. MICHAEL ROUNDS, by the authority vested in me by the laws of South Dakota, do hereby declare that any approved location where work is assigned to be performed by an employee of the state of South Dakota shall be a drug free workplace and, further, that all employees of the state are absolutely prohibited from unlawfully manufacturing, distributing, dispensing, possessing or using any controlled substance in the workplace.

I HEREBY ORDER AND DIRECT:

- 1) That any employee of the state who is convicted of a criminal drug statute violation in the workplace will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination, or the employee may be required to participate satisfactorily in a drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program;
- 2) That each employee of the state of South Dakota shall be given a copy of this order and the policy of this state which implements this order; and,
- 3) The commissioner of the Bureau of Personnel to develop and implement educational material for the purpose of ensuring that all officials and employees of the Executive Branch understand the dangers of drug abuse in the workplace, any drug counseling, rehabilitation and employee assistance programs that are available and the penalties that may be imposed for drug abuse violations in the workplace.

Dated this 18th day of February 2003.

ATTEST:

Chris Nelson, Secretary of State

M. Michael Rounds, Governor of South Dakota

Drug Free Workplace Policy

The State of South Dakota has a drug free workplace policy for all state employees. As a condition of your employment with the state, you must agree to abide by the terms of this policy.

The dangers of drug abuse in the workplace include accidents and injuries; reduced productivity; absenteeism and increased health care costs; loss of public confidence in the State; and adverse effects on the abuser, family, friends, co-workers, and persons receiving services from the State.

The policy prohibits the unlawful manufacture, dispensation, possession, or use of a controlled substance by an employee in the workplace. If you are convicted of a violation of a criminal drug law or admit in court to a criminal drug law violation, you will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action, which includes termination. You must comply with the arrest policy if you are arrested, charged, or believe you may be charged with any crime involving illegal drugs.

Rules Summary

The Career Service Commission adopted the following rules in order to comply with the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988. These rules provide a definition of conviction, criminal drug statute, and workplace and allow for discipline of an employee based upon drug and alcohol related issues. The rules also allow for the referral of a convicted employee to drug rehabilitation programs.

55:01:01:01. Definitions. In addition to the definitions contained in SDCL 3-6A-2, the Career Service Act, the following words and phrases, when used, have meanings stated unless otherwise clearly indicated in the context:

(8) "Conviction," a finding of guilt, including a plea of nolo contendere or imposition of sentence or both, by a judicial body charged with the responsibility to determine violations of federal or state criminal statutes;

(9) "Criminal drug statute," a statute that prohibits the manufacture, distribution, dispensation, use, or possession of any controlled substance and establishes criminal penalties for such acts;

(41) "Workplace," the location at which an employee performs assigned work with the approval of the appointing authority.

55:01:12:05 Causes for disciplinary action. Just causes for disciplinary action are listed below but may be made for other just causes as reported to the commissioner:

(5) The employee has consumed alcohol or other intoxicants or unauthorized controlled substances while on duty or is impaired while on duty or while operating state equipment or has unlawfully manufactured, distributed, dispensed, possessed, or used a controlled substance in the workplace;

(19) The employee has failed to notify the appointing authority within five days after a conviction of a violation of a criminal drug statute occurring in the workplace;

(21) The employee failed or refused to take a drug test administered pursuant to SDCL 23-3-64 to 23-3-69, inclusive, or 49 C.F.R. Part 382 (December 1, 1995);

55:01:15.01:05 Referral to counseling. An appointing authority may refer an employee to a counseling service or program as a condition of continued employment when the employee has documented poor work performance, disrupted the office, or has poor attendance or other work-related problems. If an employee fails a drug test administered pursuant to SDCL 23-3-64 to 23-3-69, inclusive, or has been convicted of a violation of a criminal drug statute that occurred in the workplace, the appointing authority may require the employee to participate satisfactorily in an approved drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program which meets the requirements of chapter 44:14:41 or 44:14:42. Satisfactory participation is determined by the program.

Health Insurance

State employees hired on a permanent basis and eligible to receive vacation and sick leave and other non-cash benefits are covered under the state's group health insurance plan.

Currently, the insurance plan provides the following benefits for substance abuse treatment.

Plan Year Maximums

The following is a summary of the Plan Year Maximums as they apply to treatment or counseling of alcohol and substance abuse.

For the $300 Deductible/Copay Plan, $1,000 Deductible, and $2,000 Deductible Plans Outpatient Treatment of alcoholism and substance abuse is limited to $2000.

For the $300 Deductible/Copay Plan, $1,000 Deductible, and $2,000 Deductible Plans Inpatient treatment of alcoholism and substance abuse is limited to a 30-day maximum, but for full benefits, services must be preauthorized.

Lifetime Maximums

For the $300 Deductible/Copay Plan, $1,000 Deductible, and $2,000 Deductible Plans inpatient treatment of alcoholism and substance abuse has a lifetime limit of 90 days.

Please note that you are responsible for keeping track of all limits or maximums. You will not be notified when you're getting close to an annual or lifetime benefit maximum.

What's Not Covered

The Plan will not pay benefits for costs incurred before your coverage is effective or after your coverage ends. In addition, the Plan will not pay benefits for hospitalization resulting from or due to alcoholism, substance abuse or any injury sustained while under the influence of any alcohol or narcotic, unless prescribed by a licensed physician.

Alcohol

Most people are aware of the reasons that alcohol is abused – for relaxation, increased sociability, and a cheap high. However, the dangers are numerous and far-reaching because alcohol is a depressant that decreases the responses of the central nervous system. In fact, as little as two beers or drinks can impair coordination and thinking. An impaired central nervous system slows your reaction time, making everyday activities, such as driving, possibly deadly.

Alone, alcohol causes intoxication, sensory alteration, and anxiety reduction, but it can also be mixed with other drugs to enhance their effects. An overdose of alcohol, or “getting drunk,” can be identified by staggering, odor of alcohol on breath, loss of coordination, slurred speech, dilated pupils, and nerve and liver damage. Excessive drinking can also cause psychotic behavior.

Indications of alcohol abuse include confusion, disorientation, and loss of motor nerve control, convulsions, shock, shallow respiration, involuntary defecation, drowsiness, respiratory depression, and possibly, death.

Use of alcohol by pregnant women can also result in Fetal Alcohol Syndrome.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Ethyl Alcohol	Liquid	Oral	Booze, Juice, Brew, Vino, Sauce
Ethanol	Liquid	Oral	Booze, Juice, Brew, Vino, Sauce

Cannabis

Cannabis is a hemp plant from which marijuana and hashish are produced. Hashish consists of the resinous secretions of the cannabis plant, and marijuana is a tobacco-like substance. Marijuana is primarily abused for the sensations of relaxation and euphoria that it induces.

However, all forms of cannabis have negative physical and mental effects. Marijuana may cause impaired short-term memory, a shortened attention span, and delayed reflexes. It can also cause a fast heart rate and pulse, breathing problems, relaxed inhibitions, and disoriented behavior. Marijuana can also produce paranoia and psychosis.

Like cigarette smoke, marijuana is damaging to the lungs and respiratory system. The tar in marijuana smoke is highly irritating and carcinogenic, and while no physical addiction is apparent, long-term users may develop psychological dependence.

Indications of use include animated behavior, loud talking, dilated pupils, bloodshot eyes, distortions in perception, hallucinations, distortions in depth and time perception, and loss of coordination.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Marijuana	Dried parsley mixed with stems that may include seeds	Smoked, oral	Pot, Grass, Weed, Reefer, Dope, Mary Jane, Acapulco Gold
Tetrahydrocannabinol	Soft gelatin capsules	Smoked, oral	THC
Hashish	Brown or black cakes or balls	Smoked, oral	Hash
Hashish Oil	Concentrated syrupy liquid varying in color from clear to black	Smoked – mixed with tobacco, oral	Hash oil

Depressants

Depressants are drugs that are used medicinally to relieve anxiety, irritability, and tension. They have a high potential for abuse, dependence, and development of tolerance. Depressants produce a state of intoxication similar to that found with alcohol, and when combined with alcohol the effects, as well as the risks, are increased greatly.

Some of the effects of depressants include sensory alteration, anxiety reduction, and intoxication. Small amounts may cause calmness and relaxed muscles, but larger doses cause slurred speech, impaired judgment, and loss of motor coordination. Very large amounts may cause respiratory depression, coma, and death.

Babies of abusers may show dependence, withdrawal symptoms, behavioral problems, and birth defects. Symptoms of withdrawal include anxiety, insomnia, muscle tremors, and loss of appetite, as well as convulsions, delirium, and death.

Indications of abuse include behavior similar to alcohol intoxication such as staggering, stumbling, lack of coordination, slurred speech, falling asleep while at work, difficulty concentrating, and dilated pupils.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Barbiturates	Capsules of many colors: red, blue, yellow	Oral	Downers, Barbs, Blue Devils, Red Devils, Yellow Jackets, Yellow, Nembutal, Seconal, Amytal, Tuinal
Methaqualone	Tablets	Oral	Quaaludes, Ludes, Sopors
Tranquilizers	Capsules, tablets	Oral	Valium, Librium, Equanil, Miltown, Serax, Tranxene
Chloral Hydrate		Oral	Noctec, Somnos
Glutethimide		Oral	Doriden

Hallucinogens

Hallucinogens are drugs that produce behavioral changes that are often multiple and dramatic. There is no known medical use for hallucinogens, although some block sensation to pain, which can result in self-inflicted injuries.

Hallucinogens can cause rapidly changing feelings, hallucinations, illusions, dizziness, confusion, suspicion, anxiety, incoherent speech, and loss of control. Long term use may cause persistent problems including depression, violent behavior, anxiety, and distorted perceptions of time. Large doses can cause convulsions, coma, heart/lung failure, and ruptured blood vessels in the brain. An overdose can be identified by longer, more intense “trips,” psychosis, coma, and death. Delayed effects, known as flashbacks, may occur long after use.

Indications of abuse include extreme changes in behavior and mood; chills; irregular breathing; sweating; trembling hands; changes in sense of light, hearing, touch, smell, and time; increased blood pressure, heart rate, and blood sugar. The abuser may also sit or recline in a trance-like state for an extended period of time, and may appear fearful.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Phencyclidine	Liquid, capsules, white crystalline powder, pills	Smoked, oral, injected	PCP, Angel Dust, Loveboat, Lovely, Hog, Killer Weed
Lysergic Acid Diethylamide	Brightly colored tablets, impregnated blotter paper, thin squares of gelatin, clear liquid	Oral, licked off paper, put in eyes	LSD, Acid, Green or Red Dragon, White Lightning, Blue Heaven, Sugar Cubes, Microdot
Mescaline, Peyote	Hard brown disks, Tablets, Capsules	Oral, injected, smoked, sniffed,	Mesc, Buttons, Cactus
Psilocybin	Fried or dried mushrooms	Oral, injected, smoked, sniffed	Magic Mushrooms
Designer Drugs	White powder, tablets, capsules	Oral, injected, inhaled, smoked	Ecstasy, XTC, Adam, Essence, PCE, MDM, STP, PMA 2, 5-DMA, TMA, DOM, DOB, MDMA

Inhalants

Inhalants are popularly abused by a variety of people, and because many popular commercial preparations such as paint thinners and cleaning fluids contain several different substances, it makes it difficult to be specific about the various effects. However, the reasons that inhalants are abused are simple – a cheap high, a quick buzz, and fun.

The dangers associated with inhalants are also simple – loss of muscle control, slurred speech, drowsiness or loss of consciousness, excessive secretions from the nose, watery eyes, brain damage, and damage to the lungs. Repeated sniffing can lead to permanent damage of the entire nervous system, and long term use can result in hepatitis, weight loss, extreme fatigue, electrolyte imbalance, and muscle weakness.

Symptoms of “huffing” include nausea, sneezing, coughing, nose bleeds, fatigue, lack of coordination, and loss of appetite. Solvents and aerosol sprays may also decrease the heart and respiratory rates and impair judgment.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Butyl nitrite	Packaged in small bottles	Inhaled	Rush, Bolt, Locker Room, Bullet, Climax
Amyl nitrite	Gas in aerosol cans	Inhaled	Poppers, snappers
Hydrocarbons	Cans of aerosol propellants, gasoline, glue, paint thinner	Inhaled	Correction fluid, glue, marking pens, solvents
Nitrous Oxide	Gas in cylinder	Inhaled	Laughing gas Whippets Buzz bomb
Chlorohydrocarbons	Aerosol paint cans, containers of cleaning fluid	Inhaled	Aerosol sprays

Narcotics

Narcotics are drugs that are used medicinally to relieve pain, but have a high potential for abuse. They cause relaxation with an immediate “rush” and also have initial unpleasant effects, such as restlessness or nausea. Other effects include euphoria, drowsiness, respiratory depressions, and constricted pupils.

Symptoms of withdrawal include watery eyes, runny nose, yawning, cramps, loss of appetite, irritability, nausea, tremors, panic, chills, and sweating. Symptoms of overdose include slow, shallow breathing, clammy skin, convulsions, coma, and possibly, death.

Abuse of narcotics by pregnant women can lead to premature, stillborn, or addicted infants, and use of unsterilized syringes can result in transmission of diseases such as AIDS and hepatitis. Indications of abuse include scars (tracks) caused by injections, constricted pupils, loss of appetite, sniffles, watery eyes, cough, nausea, lethargy, drowsiness, nodding, syringes, bent spoons, and needles.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Opium	Dark brown chunks, powder	Oral, smoked	Paregoric, Dover's Powder
Morphine	White crystals, hypodermic tablets, solutions	Oral, smoked, injected	Pectoral syrup
Codeine	Tablets, capsules, dark liquid varying in thickness	Oral, injected	Empirin compound with codeine, Tylenol with codeine, cough medicines
Heroin	Powder, white to dark brown; tar-like substance	Smoked, injected, sniffed	Smack, Horse, Brown sugar, Junk, Mud, Big H
Hydromorphone		Oral, injected	Dilaudid
Meperidine	White powder, solution, tablets	Oral, injected	Pethidine, Demerol, Mepergan
Methadone	Solution	Oral, injected	Dolophine, Methadose, Amidone
Other Narcotics	Tablets, capsules, liquids	Oral, injected	Percocet, Percodan, Tuxtionex, Fentanyl, Darvon, Talwin, Lomotil

Cocaine

Cocaine, which is abused primarily for a carefree feeling, euphoria, relaxation, and greater control, has many dangers. While it is technically classified as a narcotic, it is often referred to as a stimulant because it has the dangers of both categories.

A cocaine high can last from five to twenty minutes and users need more and more cocaine each time they want a high. Cocaine use may cause severe “mood swings” and irritability, as well as increased blood pressure and heart rate. Cocaine is so dangerous that just one use can cause death.

Cocaine stimulates the central nervous system, causing symptoms such as dilated pupils, elevated blood pressure, increased heart rate, and elevated blood pressure. Occasional use can cause a stuffy or runny nose, and chronic use can cause ulceration of the mucous membrane in the nose. Cocaine can also produce a strong psychological dependency.

Crack, which is essentially a concentrated form of cocaine, is extremely potent. Its effects are nearly instantaneous and include dilated pupils, increased pulse rate, elevated blood pressure, insomnia, loss of appetite, tactile hallucinations, paranoia, and seizures. Crack is almost instantly addictive, but one use could cause a fatal heart attack. Chronic use may cause insomnia, hallucinations, seizures, and paranoia. While crack does cause a quick high and sensations of power and euphoria, the sensations last only a few minutes, increasing the addictive quality of the drug.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Cocaine	White crystalline powder, often diluted with other ingredients	Inhaled through the nose, injected, smoked	Coke, Snow, Flake, Snow Bird, White, Nose Candy, Big C, Lady, Blow, Girl
Crack	Light brown or beige pellets or crystalline rock that resemble coagulated soap; often packaged in small vials	Smoked	Crack cocaine, Freebase rocks, Rock

Steroids

Steroids are synthetic compounds available legally and illegally. They are closely related to testosterone, and are most commonly abused to achieve increased strength and increased muscle size, to enhance athletic performance and physical endurance, and to help muscles recover from injury.

Abuse or overuse of steroids can lead to severe acne, rashes, stunted growth, sexual function problems, behavioral changes, aggressiveness, and quick weight and muscle gain. In women, steroid abuse can lead to development of irreversible masculine traits and an increase in body hair. Symptoms of abuse also include jaundice, unexplained darkness of skin, persistent unpleasant breath odor, and swelling of feet or lower legs.

Withdrawal from steroids can cause significant weight loss, depression, behavioral changes, and uncontrollable trembling.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Dianabol	Liquid	Oral	Steroids, Roids
Nandrolone	Liquid	Oral	Steroids, Roids

Stimulants

Stimulants are drugs that are used to increase alertness, relieve fatigue, and feel stronger and more decisive. They are also often used to counteract the “down” feeling of tranquilizers or alcohol or for their euphoric effect.

Effects of stimulants include increased heart and respiratory rates, elevated blood pressure, dilated pupils, and decreased appetite. High doses may cause rapid or irregular heartbeat, loss of coordination, and collapse. Stimulants can also cause perspiration, blurred vision, dizziness, restlessness, anxiety, and delusions. In addition, injections of amphetamines can create a sudden increase in blood pressure that can result in a stroke, very high fever, or heart failure.

Indications of misuse include excessive activity, talkativeness, irritability, argumentativeness, nervousness, increased blood pressure or pulse rate, dilated pupils, long periods without sleeping or eating, and euphoria.

Overdose can be identified by agitation, increase in body temperature, hallucinations, convulsions, and possibly, death.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Amphetamines	Capsules, pills, tablets	Oral, injected	Speed, Uppers, Ups, Black Beauties, Pep Pills, Copilots, Hearts, Benzedrine, Dexadrine, Biphphetamine
Phenmetrazine	Capsules, pills, tablets	Oral, injected	Preludin
Methylphenidate	Capsules, pills, tablets	Oral, injected	Ritalin
Methamphetamines	White powder, pills,	Oral, injected, sniffed	Crank, Crystal Meth, Methedrine, Speed
Other Stimulants	Pills, capsules, tablets	Oral, injected	Ritalin, Cylert, Preludin, Didrex, Pre-State, Voranil, Tenuate, Tepanil, Pondimin, Sandrex, Plegine

Ice

Ice, more commonly known as a Methamphetamine, is an extremely addictive, illegal drug that causes temporary mood elevation, exhilaration, increased mental alertness, and upper-increase wakefulness. It can also cause convulsions, heart irregularities, high blood pressure, depression, restlessness, tremors, and severe fatigue.

An overdose of ice can cause a coma or death and regular use causes jitters, anxiety, insomnia, and paranoia.

Ice also has lasting effects, including deep depression even after the use has stopped.

In addition to the dangers mentioned above, Ice is classified as a stimulant, with all the dangers associated with that category of drug.

Drug	What does it look like?	How is it used?	What else is it called?
Methamphetamines	White powder, pills, resembles a block of paraphin	Oral, injected, inhaled through nose	Meth, Crystal, Crank, Ice, Speed

Accreditation Definitions

Clinically-Managed Detoxification Program: a short-term residential program providing for the supervised withdrawal from alcohol or drugs of persons without known serious physical or immediate psychiatric complications. The program shall furnish temporary care, information, motivational counseling, evaluation, and referral and provide for the entry into the continuum of treatment services.

Core Service Agency: an agency designated by the Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse to provide core services within the agency's catchment area. Each county's Board of Commissioners must approve the Agency to be designated to provide these services.

Day Treatment Program: a nonresidential program that provides clients with a minimum of 20/adults - 15/adolescents regularly scheduled treatment hours per week in a clearly defined, structured intensive treatment program. Clients enrolled in the program are provided housing within a supportive environment that is peer based.

Early Intervention and Outpatient Services: a nonresidential facility that provides direct supportive client contact, indirect or collateral client contact, community information, and liaison services. The program also provides formally planned counseling services to those persons harmfully affected by alcohol or drugs and who have been determined not to be in need of or accepting of structured outpatient or residential services.

Intensive Outpatient Treatment Program: provides individuals a clearly defined, structured, intensive treatment program on a scheduled basis with a minimum of 9 hours of regularly scheduled treatment services per week. The program shall provide intensive informational and counseling services to a client during their course of treatment.

Low-Intensity Residential Program: a residential, peer orientated program designed to aid the client's re-entry into society. The program shall provide directly or by referral, individual and group counseling, assistance in securing employment, and other services as may be necessary to facilitate the individual's successful re-entry into the community.

Medically-Monitored Intensive Inpatient Program: provides structured and intensive treatment for alcohol and drug abuse to individuals who require close supervision due to the severity of their chemical addiction. A residential program shall provide intensive informational and counseling services to a client during their course of treatment.

Accreditation Definitions

Outpatient Service Program: a nonresidential facility that provides direct supportive client contact, indirect or collateral client contact, community information, and liaison services. The program also provides formally planned counseling services to those persons harmfully affected by alcohol or drugs and who have been determined not to be in need of or accepting of structured outpatient or residential services.

Prevention Resource Centers: provide the following services:

1. Disseminate information through their respective resource libraries.
2. Assist schools in developing ATOD policies, programming, and curricula.
3. Train teachers and prevention advocates in various programming.
4. Assist community and parent groups in developing prevention activities.
