1098T Information

Black Hills State University continues to offer students new and convenient processes of receiving tax documentation necessary to process tax benefits for education. The Tuition statement, IRS form 1098-T, will be mailed to your permanent address by January 31, 2017. It is also available on www.ecsi.net/1098t. We can now provide you the option of receiving your 1098-T form electronically.

What are the "Benefits" to receiving the 1098-T Form electronically versus through the regular postal mail:

- * Online delivery provides access to the form 1098-T earlier than the traditional mailing process.
- * Online delivery eliminates the chance that the 1098-T will get lost, misdirected or delayed during delivery, or misplaced once the student receives it.
- * Signing up for online delivery is easy and secure, and students can change their minds and withdraw from online delivery at any time.
- * Students can receive their 1098-T Form even while traveling or on assignment away from their home address.
- * Parents/guardian can also receive a copy of the 1098-T from.
- * Go Green and save the environment

If you would like to receive your 1098-T form electronically please give your consent by following the link below prior to January 21, 2017.

<http://www.ecsi.net/gateway/1098t-signup.html?school=GZ>

You do not have to complete the constant if you have already completed in a previous year.

School: SOUTH DAKOTA BOARD OF REGENTS

Entering your Name, SSN (optional), Student ID# and Email Address (with the option to include your parents Email Address).

Read information, check box and click submit.

If you would like to receive a paper copy of your 1098-T Form, please verify your permanent address is updated with the university.

Your 1098T will continue to be available at www.ecsi.net/1098t.

Thank you for your response.

2017SP Bills are Due

Reminder, bills are due, the last day to pay is January 19th. Students should check their Current Activity on SDePay to make sure there are no other charges pending as there could have been a course change, or other charges put on after the financial aid refund was processed. If questions, contact Student Financial Services.

Scam Alert - BHSU

Someone claiming to be from a large multi-national company recently contacted a SDSM&T student encouraging the student to apply for a job. The student then posted his resume to Ziprecruiter.com, which is a reputable site. The multi-national company is real and reputable.

Here is an account of what happened, can you spot the warning signs?

1. Student was contacted about a by a "recruiter" (scammer) who pulled our student's resume from the recruiting web site. The ONLY interview option was an online chat interview. The student asked if there would be a video chat/phone call. It was explained that “this is the way the world is advancing, so we want to use this method.” (first warning sign)

2. The scammer used a broad variety of descriptive language, which was copied and pasted from the company’s website. The scammer asked for the person’s sex (gender), which a US company would not ask in an interview. (second warning sign)
3. The scammer mentioned the following job requirements:
 - Must be fluent in communication and English
 - Must be at least 30wpm average
 - Must be 18+
 - Must have a Bank Account (third warning sign)
4. The scammer said that the company will be setting up office branches “near your location” and that the student would work from home until the office is set up. (4th warning sign—no specific location)
5. The scammer talked about flexible working hours and very high pay for both training ($17:00 per hour) and hourly work after training ($25:75 per hour). (5th and 6th warning signs - VERY high pay for very low job requirements and incorrect format of currency. It should be $17.00 and $25.75)
6. The scammer asked “what type of system the student uses—Mac or PC?”. The student answered PC, so the scammer stated they require Mac systems thus student will have to get Mac equipment. (7th warning sign - required to purchase something before proceeding)
7. The scammer then attempted to obtain the student’s SSN and bank account: “The company will provide you a free Apple Mac Book Pro laptop with a fast internet connection and your W4 form will be coming along with the working materials you need to start working with... the company will be providing you with the funds you will be using to purchase the necessary equipment and software programs.” (8th and warning signs - a W4 will require your Social Security number, which you should NEVER give to someone who contacts you)
8. The scam then goes for your bank information: “Once you received the check you are needed to have it deposited to your bank account, Then the funds will be will be credited and available in your account for cash out the next day. (9th and 10th warning signs - Funds from a check are rarely available that quickly AND strangers should not be given your bank account number)

Please DO NOT get caught up in this type of scam, and it can happen with ANY company and ANY resume posting site at ANY time. We have reported this to the FBI and we contacted the company in question, which confirmed it is a scam.

Fortunately, this student figured out it was a scam and did not lose his money. He reported the incident to School of Mines authorities and the FBI is now involved. We ask you to always be vigilant and to report any suspicious activities to law enforcement or our Department of Public Safety.

The Spearfish Police Department can be reached at 605-642-1300 and BHSU Public Safety's 24-hour phone number is: 605-641-6988.

JURY

Dear colleagues, please encourage your students to submit their work to JUR(Y), a high-quality, interactive, interdisciplinary journal catering to undergraduate research and creative activity. Published submissions undergo double-blind review by a faculty review board; texts are finalized by the University Honors student editorial board. The review board is interested in seeing traditional research and scholarly papers, creative writing, art work and photographs, podcasts, performances, debates, musical compositions, graphic design, animation and digital shorts, debates, and comics/cartoons. Students must have a faculty sponsor to submit their work. Will you help us spread the word in your classes? Will you tap specific students whose work you know will be ideal? The submission deadline is Feb. 1. For questions, contact Courtney.HuseWika@BHSU.edu.

Geek Speak, "Mammas Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up to Be Oscar Wilde: The Dialectical Cowboy," hosted by Dr. Tim Steckline.

Please join us on Thursday, January 12, at 4:00 p.m. in Jonas 110 for this week's Geek Speak, "Mammas Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up to Be Oscar Wilde: The Dialectical Cowboy," hosted by Dr. Tim Steckline. These lectures are free and open to the public.

In 1882 Oscar Wilde made a tour of the American West bringing "aesthetic revival" to crowds in a string of Rocky Mountain mining camps, cow camps and train stops. He was not warmly greeted. The emergence of the cowboy myth around this same time reflects the reaction of American males to the sort of decadence Wilde exemplified. From Owen Wister and Teddy Roosevelt and Buffalo Bill onwards, cowboys represent a figure of ambivalence toward civilization and its costs. In the century to follow a dialectical progression of cowboy types evolves out of this conflicted response to decadence (or over-civilization), on the one hand, and to its countervailing corrective atavism (or regression from civilization) on the other. My tracing of this dialectic identifies five "cowboys" that popular culture has drawn upon for the depiction of saddle tramps, and draws illustrations from not only Wister and Wilde, but additionally John Wayne, Lonesome Dove, cowboy trail songs, Wild West Shows, Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings, the Village People, Kid Rock, Ennis and Jack of Brokeback Mountain, Montgomery Clift, Tom McGuane, Ween, and a passel of others. Slap leather and come jaw for awhile, pilgrims, and when we get back to the ranch there's gonna be a cool diagram too.

There will be an encore lecture at the Jacket Zone at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, January 13 at 617 Main Street. Contact the Jacket Zone at 717-5801 with any questions.
