

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Happy holidays from Black Hills State University.

After a challenging 2020 fall semester, we were pleased to honor our graduates with modified commencement ceremonies. Kudos to all the graduates and their families! We are looking forward to seeing where your BHSU degree takes you. These graduates earned their diplomas and are now achieving their dreams by successfully moving into employment opportunities and pursuing professional degrees at graduate schools.

While many universities across the country stayed online or went to online earlier than anticipated—at BHSU we were able to stay the course and conclude our semester as planned thanks to the tremendous work of our faculty and staff. It took everyone, working together, to make this happen. Our faculty were extremely flexible with their teaching and with students. Our staff made many modifications in their job to help us manage during the pandemic. I am thankful for all of their efforts.

As we take a break to celebrate the holidays, I hope you have a restful and restorative time. Dr. Jonathan Nero, professor of music at BHSU, shared a link to their final concert of the fall semester, "A Winter Choral Concert". Enjoy this as you celebrate the holiday season!

Moving into the year 2021, there's a feeling of optimism across campus as we make plans for the future. We have plans for a sculpture by Dale Lamphere right at the gateway to campus. We are encouraged by the success of our alumni and students even as they continue to navigate the many unknowns. We are reinvigorated by the many changes taking place across campus that will create even greater opportunities for our students. And we are sincerely appreciative of our donors and community members who continue to show their support of BHSU.

President Laurie S. Nichols

TRIO PROGRAMS AT BHSU AWARDED FIVE-YEAR GRANT FUNDING

The success of the Student Support Services TRIO programs was recognized as BHSU was funded once again. The $1.7 million dollar grant will ensure the TRIO program continues to provide exceptional opportunities for students for the allotted five-year timeframe.

Ashley Kirchner, Director of Student Support Services at BHSU, noted that BHSU is pleased to offer the TRIO programs and is very proud of the students for their successes.

Kirchner oversees the highly successful TRIO grant program at BHSU. In the last year the program exceeded their goals in all three of their performance objects. Student Support Services (SSS), which serves 200 students including 77 first-generation students, increased the retention rate of participants to 84 percent. In addition 93 percent of the SSS enrolled participants reached Good Academic Standing. The group also exceeded their goal for the graduation rate of participants.

"These numbers further confirm the kind of impact that retention services can have on the success of students, especially those who are identified with some of the highest needs," Kirchner said. "We appreciate the great faculty and staff at BHSU that makes reaching these numbers possible." BHSU bachelor degree seeking students who are first-generation, who have a disability that impacts their learning in the classroom or are income eligible can apply to be a part of TRIO. BHSU ESTABLISHES VETERANS' PARK ON CAMPUS

BHSU hosted a ribbon cutting on Veterans Day, Nov. 11th, to dedicate Veterans' Park on campus.

The new park honors all veterans - past, present and future and commemorates the former Vetsville, a housing unit with trailers that was established in 1946 to provide affordable living for veterans and their families after World War II.

American Legion Commander Fred Nelson, who is the Director of Network & Computing Services at BHSU, spoke briefly about the importance of Veterans Day. Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Romkema dedicated the park and the first Veterans Bench to Dr. Charles Schad (Army Veteran and Professor at BHSU). The BHSU ROTC conducted the flag raising with the BHSU Choir singing the National Anthem.

Each project is either a thesis or a major project that is undertaken by the student and guided by a senior faculty member and second reader.
